OUT ON THE LIMB with George Vierhus

FRUSTRATING IS THE way to describe any attempt to draw objective conclusions based solely on the handouts, publicity releases, "news" stories and just plain propaganda that flood the office now that the countdown has begun for the November 7 election.

The tempo of the political mimeograph machines has quickened to such an extent that the majority of the office mail each day now consists of campaign fodder pertaining to the propositions and/or candidates that will appear on the ballot.

There are 22 propositions and proposed laws on the ballot (unless the court takes some of 'em off) and on most days the mail contains good (?) sound (?) and convincing (?) arguments for both sides of most of the various ballot proposals.

Plus, of course, handouts pour in from the headquarters of the various candidates from McGovern-Shriver and Nixon-Agnew, on down.

We do make an attempt, (somewhat futilely, however,) of glancing at the stuff to try to glean something from them that can be used in the columns of this paper.

But it is a pretty hopeless task.

We have neither the time nor the space available.

So we plan to rely on our own analysis of the situation based on our own research.

We will try to let you know how we come out.

We hope we can come to some conclusion by Nov. 7.

-0-

THESE SEASONAL POlitical floods are really not unexpected. They take place every time there is an election.

But this time it seems there are more controversial propositions on the ballot than in previous times.

Or maybe it just seems that-away.

We recall some of the past elections when there were some real knock-down battles statewide over the ballot measures.

But what always tends to amaze us is the number of these initiatives and amendments that appear at each election.

One would think that sooner or later there would be a let-up.

But for sure that's not the case this time.

ONE INTERESTING phrase, to us as a word-watcher, has developed in the assembly race for the 24th district in which Larry Fargher is pitted against the incumbent, John Vasconcellos.

In one of his campaign brochures, Vasconcellos advocated constructive action to prevent drug abuse and favored "abolishing criminal penalties for personal possession/use of marijuana."

When some of the newspapers and other media, based on that statement, reported that Vasconcellos favored "legalizing marijuana" and had issued a "pro-marijuana stand," John blew up.

He flatly denied the interpretation of his stand as reported.

He maintained that he had not made a "pro-marijuana statement." He was not "pro-marijuana" and he was not for "legalizing marijuana."

Vasconcellos submitted that he was for "decriminalization" which is not "legalization."

Unfortunately our status as a word-watcher, we know, is going to suffer but the usually dependable unabridged office dictionary that we use on occasions like this doesn't list "decriminalization." At least we couldn't find it.

That doesn't mean, of course, that it's not a real word.

Obviously it's a combined thing and we think we can

AT THE CHANGE-OVER---At midnight on Saturday, the City of Campbell began dispatching the vehicles of the police, fire and public works department. Prior to Saturday, the dispatching of the city vehicles was done by the county communications system under an annual contract.

When the contract price for the service was increased from $31,778 to $65,994, the city deemed it more feasible economically to operate its own dispatching system from the communication center in the city hall. The dispatching will be done on a 24-hour basis and three new dispatchers have been employed and two department employees have been reclassified as dispatchers.

Interested observers at midnight on Saturday when the City of Campbell officially took over were Mayor Bill Podgorsek and Police Chief Don Burr.

Tim Hancock was the first city dispatcher to man the controls. On the left, partially hidden in the photo is Jerry Miller, one of the new dispatchers who was also on hand as an observer.

Mayor Podgorsek is looking over Hancock's shoulder and in the rear is Chief Burr, who reported that there were no hitches during the turn-over.

Four days of gala entertainment features big PruneYard festival

Four big days of entertainment from Thursday (Oct. 5), through Sunday (Oct. 8), including hot air balloon rides, a mini-circus, clowns, dancers, and many musical groups, plus a beauty pageant will feature the first annual anniversary festival of the PruneYard.

Entertainers will be on hand daily from noon until 10 p.m. The highlight of the gala schedule of events will be the crowning of the queen on Sunday between 8 and 8:30 p.m. and the grand prize drawing will be on Sunday at 9:30 p.m. The grand prize for two on the cruise ship, Spirit of London, features, a four-day all expense paid holiday.

The 52 specialty shops and stores are cooperating in putting on the festival and many of them are offering special anniversary specials.

On Friday and Saturday, the entries in the beauty pageant will vie in the talent and swim suit competition of the pageant leading up to the choosing of the queen from the finalists.

Live entertainment will be presented during the four days in the Gran Plaza, stores, gardens, and walkways throughout the entire PruneYard center.

Included among the many entertainment features that will be offered will be the "Friendly Persuasion," rated as one of the top musical groups. The group will perform daily from noon until 4 p.m. and will have three shows on Saturday and will accompany the beauty pageant competition on Saturday at 7 p.m.

The 30-piece Navy Show Band West from San Francisco will play two Saturday shows (at 3 p.m. and 6 p.m.) in the Gran Plaza amphitheater. The band will feature vocalist Roger McGlasson.

Planning Commission okays restaurant, new subdivision

A 65-single family lot subdivision and a 148-seat "Coco's Restaurant" were approved by the Planning Commission on Monday night.

The subdivision plan was submitted by Dura Style Homes on 14 acres of the former Amato property located between Campbell and Latimer avenues just west of the expressway.

The tract adjoins a similar tract on 17 acres of the Amato property on which construction has started. The new subdivision will have a density of 4.5 units per gross acre. The Planning Commission had previously recommended a density of six units or less for the area.

All the lots, it was reported, would exceed the 6000 square foot minimum, although 35 of them will be 55-feet wide. It was indicated that the approved plan would have no lots fronting on the expressway.

The "Coco's Restaurant" approved will be on a 51,000 square foot parcel of the former Gomes property and will front on Hamilton. The build-

Board to recognize employee groups at meeting Thursday

Routine recognition of employee groups operating in the Campbell Union (elementary) School District is expected at the trustees meeting this Thursday, Oct. 5, in the administration building.

The board meets at 7 p.m.

Four groups of certificated (educators) employees and one for classified (California School Employees Association) have filed for recognition.

One of the new educator groups, Campbell Association of Professional Educators was recognized in August by the board.

The other groups include Campbell Elementary Administrators Association with 36 members and Dick Ullman, president; Campbell Elementary Teachers Association with 430 members and Herb Wadley, president; and the West Valley Federation of Teachers with Lee F. O'Neill as president and Lynne Olivieri and Gordon Martin as local representatives. WVFT does not list its total membership but specified its membership roll would be of those currently having union dues deducted. A cursory check has indicated approximately 20 teachers in that category.

The classified teachers group (CSEA) lists Fred H. Van Tassell as president.

At the meeting Thursday, four teachers who have been on sabbatical leave will make reports to the board and are expected to adopt the Santa Clara County Basic Course of Study as recommended by Mrs. Ruth Launer, director of instruction.

NEXT MONDAY AT CITY HALL

Role of city in recreation to feature study session

What role the city should play in providing recreational services to the community will be the subject of a special study session called by the Parks and Recreation Commission for next Monday, Oct. 9, at 7:30 p.m. in the city hall.

A sub-committee of the commission, headed by Tony Van Laarhoven, has been studying the community recreational picture and will submit its report at the study session on Monday.

According to Van Laarhoven, the committee will introduce the "community school development" concept as a potential method of meeting the community's recreational leadership needs.

The concept, which has been utilized by other cities in the county, will be outlined by Dr. Tony Carrillo, of San Jose State University.

FROM FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

City's "windfall" totals $172,117

Campbell city officials were notified this week that under a plan released by the House and Senate Conference Committee, the City of Campbell would receive $172,117 in revenue sharing funds.

Congressional leaders have indicated that final approval is expected shortly and that the city would receive half of the amount in October and the other half in January.

City Manager Bob Stephens has recommended that the City Council conduct a study session as to what items should have priority by this federal "windfall" and reported also that the city staff would make recommendations at the study session.

Campbell's allocation of $172,117 was part of the $15,134,121 that has been earmarked for Santa Clara County. Under the plan, the county will get $8,198,592 with the cities receiving $6,906,990.

San Jose's allocation will be $4,033,206 with Santa Clara getting $689,179 and Sunnyvale $572,124.

Mountain View is on the list for $327,515 and Palo Alto for $310,110.

Milpitas will get $199.373 and Gilroy $132,410, as compared to Campbell's $172,117.

Other cities and their allocations are: Los Gatos, $115,-091; Saratoga, $100,719; Los Altos, $92,716; Cupertino, $67,675; Morgan Hill, $57,-775; Los Altos Hills, $25,505 and Monte Sereno, $11,476.

The bill, according to unofficial reports, carries a five-year authorization with provisions for slight increases every year after 1972.

No specific guidelines have been listed as yet as to how the funds can be used but it is understood that they may be used for police and fire protection, health and recreation services, social services for the poor and aged and financial administration, which gives the city authorities ample leeway.

Campbell city officials have not yet discussed the matter officially but it is scheduled

TO CITY COUNCIL

E. Campbell Ave. residents protest hazards on street

One irate resident on E. Campbell Ave. (east of Bascom) has filed a letter of complaint with the City Council about the traffic problems that exist on the street between Leigh and Bascom and other residents this week indicated that they also want the city "to do something about it."

The letter of complaint from Dr. Charles R. Edman of 1310 E. Campbell Ave., is on the agenda for the City Council meeting next Tuesday, Oct. 10 (Monday is a city holiday). Other residents have indicated that they might appear also to voice their concern.

In his letter to the Council, Dr. Edman called attention to the rash of recent accidents on the street and emphasized that for years the residents have pleaded with the city to control speed and traffic on this residential street.

Edman added that people have been killed on that stretch of the street and his son has barely escaped injury or worse on two occasions. A dog has been killed recently and four trees have had to be replaced because of errant drivers.

In another traffic control matter affecting a problem area on the agenda, the Council is scheduled to act on the recommendation of the city's traffic engineer that a stop sign be placed on Second St. at Grant and a stop sign on Grant at First St.

A number of accidents have occurred recently on those streets.

EQUIPMENT BIDS

The Council next Tuesday is expected to act on the awarding of bids for public works equipment, including a three-wheel street sweeper, a 3/4 ton pickup, a brush chipper, a dump truck and a tractor. Bids for the equipment are to be opened this Thursday.

Acting on the recommendation of City Manager Bob Stephens, the Council will probably schedule study sessions on the revenue-sharing funding plan that has been approved by a joint House-Senate committee. Under the plan, Campbell is slated to receive $172,117 in federal funds.

LIBRARY

The modified library agreement between the city and county is also expected to be ready for Council approval next Tuesday and a joint meeting with the Planning Commission concerning the housing element in the countywide planning will probably be scheduled for later in the month.

Changes in the square-footage required for R-2 and R-3 zoning districts in the city will also be before the City Council for approval.

Adoption of pre-zoning for two annexations (Shady Acres and Whiteoaks) is also scheduled.

A letter from a Saratoga resident commending the city for its street tree program but claiming that the city was lax in landscaping conditions, as far as trees are concerned in Hamilton Downs, has also been received by the City Council.

Creekside bike trails get boost

By approving an agreement last week with the City of Campbell for the development of the Los Gatos Creek area, County Flood Control and Water District has opened the way for the establishment of bike trails and other improvements along the creek.

Under the agreement, which was approved some time ago by the City Council, the Flood Control District will allow the city to develop the creekside right-of-way owned by the district, with the city assuming the liability for the recreational uses. The district will maintain the creek.

John Ruppel, assistant to City Manager Bob Stephens, reported this week that a $5000 matching grant has been requested from the federal government for creekside improvements.

Future plans call for trails along the creek connecting Campbell Park with the county-park at Camden Ave. The agreement with Campbell, Ruppel pointed out, is similar to those between the county and Los Gatos and the district for the development of the areas within their respective spheres along the creek.

Savings firm hit by holdup

A tall, slender and well-dressed young man wearing a black wig and carrying a revolver held up two employees of California Savings and Loan at Bascom and Campbell avenues on Monday at 1:30 p.m. and made his getaway with more than $1500.

After Catherine Brickley and Michael Putnam, at gunpoint, had been forced to give the bandit the money, he left on foot toward Fewtrell Ave.

Although the police report no suspects to date, the police are hopeful that the camera at the savings and loan firm "snapped" a picture of the robber.

INTERFAITH SERVICE---One of the features of the week-long (Oct. 15-22) celebration marking the 25th anniversary of the founding of St. Lucy's parish in Campbell will be an interfaith ecumenical service on Wednesday, October 18, at 7:30 p.m. in St. Lucy's church.

Those who will participate in the service include, Rev. W. H. (Ben) Gould, First United Methodist; Rev. Roland Wiederanders, Zion Lutheran; Rev. Foster Shannon, Immanuel Presbyterian; Rev. Guy Heath, Christian Center; Rev. Philip Jerald Angove, Roselawn United Methodist, and the Revs. Leonard W. Bose and Peter Chirico, S.S., St. Lucy's.

The silver jubilee celebration will begin on Sunday, October 15, with a Thanksgiving Mass at noon at which Archbishop Joseph McGuckin will be present and will wind up the following Saturday and Sunday with a fiesta/barbecue on the parish grounds.

Other events include a community luncheon at noon on Thursday, October 19, with the Chamber of Commerce participating and a parish revue, "This is Your Life, St. Lucy's" on Friday evening. Tuesday will be Youth Day.

Editorial

Be Practical

Campbell city officials are highly elated over the announcement from Washington that this city is to receive $172,117 in federal revenue-sharing money.

The city officials have every right to be pleased and we are sure that the citizens of the city all share in their pleasure.

Unlike other federal funding in which the city has been involved, this particular allocation is not based on matching funds. It is an outright grant with few, if any, strings attached as to how it can be spent.

The idea of federal revenue-sharing has been bandied about for some time in the halls of congress. But it was not until last week that a House and Senate Conference agreed on a formula and the dollar totals.

Under the plan, the county will receive approximately $8 million and the various cities in the county about $7 million.

Obviously it is quite a windfall and, although most of the cities and the county had probably anticipated some sort of a program, until last week they were unaware of what to expect in the way of dollars or when it would be coming.

It is reported that half of the allocation is expected to be forthcoming this month and the other half in January.

It should be emphasized also that the budgets of cities that have been adopted for the fiscal year of 1972-73 do not reflect the federal funds.

And by the same token, the tax rates have already been set, so quite obviously, there can not be a general slashing of tax rates.

We think it is important to point out that in the case of the City of Campbell, it would take roughly a 25-cent property tax to raise the $172,000 that the city is scheduled to receive in the federal revenue-sharing program!

This, we think, clearly illustrates just how important it is to this city fiscally speaking.

What we mean is that lowering or raising the city's tax rate by 25-cents would be done only after much study, research and soul-searching on the part of City Council and city staff.

It would be a major undertaking and all the ramifications would be carefully thought out and projected as to the impact such a drastic cut and/or raise would have on the city.

The same reasoning we feel should be followed in the case of the $172,000 windfall from the federal government that the city is to receive.

We are confident the City Council and city staff will take into consideration all the aspects of the situation and compare it with what a 25-cent change in the tax rate would mean to this city.

We are well aware that some people will look at the allocation in a different light.

Some will undoubtedly maintain that the money, which is an outright grant, should be spent in areas which are somewhat in the "dream stage" at the present time.

We mean those areas which are somewhat nebulous but "would be nice to have," except it is doubtful that the city's "pocket book" for practical purposes would ever stand it.

It is interesting to note that no guidelines have yet been announced for the spending of the money in the revenue-sharing program.

So the cities and the county are more or less on their own, although it has been indicated that funds should be spent for expanding public safety services such as police and fire protection, health and recreation services, social services for the poor and aged and financial administration.

That pretty much means that the cities have a broad base from which to operate.

Obviously some cities will develop different priorities than others.

An interesting point in the program is that apparently population was not the main criteria in the allocations for the cities in this county.

For example, Gilroy is to get $132,410 while Los Gatos will receive $115,091 and Cupertino only $67,675. Both Cupertino and Los Gatos are twice the size of Gilroy.

We realize that the revenue-sharing program is unique and the cities have no precedent to go by.

We understand also that the intention is that the program will be extended over a five-year period, which means, of course, that the allocations will play an increasingly important part in the fiscal picture of the cities.

In no way are we attempting to establish priorities as to how the money should be spent in the City of Campbell.

We are merely calling attention to what it means in relation to the overall income from property taxes and that it should be spent on the same basis after careful consideration of all aspects.

We submit that, although it is an unexpected fiscal blessing to this city, it should be spent in a practical manner.

DURING THE SUMMER, Tony Dirksen, a journalism student at UCLA, was employed by The Press.

Tony did an excellent job for us and now that he is back in college we seem to appreciate what he did more than ever. (For one thing, we haven't obtained a replacement for him yet.)

Anyway the office received a note from Tony recently addressed to "George and his gang!" (Of course, he takes the paper; why did you ask?) In the note Tony referred to the news stories in the recent issues of The Press which referred to trees.

Tony suggested that it was only natural for George to be concerned about trees.

After all, he is out on the limb every week, he added.

Oh well, we guess there is room for smarties in journalism as well as in other professions.

SPEAKING OF TREES, we really thought that Dr. Ed Rogers, who served on the City Council for 12 years before retiring last April, would be really climbing the walls after he had read in The Press that a shopping center in town wanted to remove the eight trees that the city had planted on Winchester Boulevard in front of the center.

It was largely due to Ed's perseverance and constant support that the city embarked on the street planting program that so far has placed 250 trees along the streets in town.

Ed insisted each year at budget time that an allocation be made for the street planting and at his retirement dinner he emphasized that his "legacy" to the city was the continuing of the program.

So we can imagine how upset Ed would be even at the mere suggestion that any of the trees would be removed.

IN THIS COLUMN LAST week we reported that we were uninformed about a day that had been set aside to honor hunters and also about a movement on foot from the other camp called "Hunt the Hunters Club."

We submitted that we were equally ignorant on both counts.

An anonymous note-writer this week took us to task for this show of ignorance on our part. The writer wondered where we had been that we didn't know there was a movement on to protect animals.

The writer claimed that people like us are part of the problem and we make it so much harder for those trying to upgrade the world, namely nature.

We will probably hear from some hunter next telling us how stupid we are for not supporting the hunters' viewpoint.

We just never seem to learn that we shouldn't publicize our stupidity.

SOME WEEKS AGO IN calling attention to the bike safety program and the crackdown on traffic violators by bicyclists, we mentioned that George Lewis, a resident on Budd Avenue and a long-time local school teacher, had pedaled his bike to school for the past 10 years.

We suggested that because of his experience as a bicyclist in the area he probably had some good ideas that could be passed on to the police in their safety program.

This week we received the following note from Lewis that is sort of a sequel to our comments:

"Dear George:

"The hazard of roaming dogs to bicycle riders was one thing we overlooked in our recent conversation.

"This became most apparent to me when a dog darted out of a yard and caused me to take a bruising fall. I found that I don't 'bounce' as well as I used to.

"The other half of this letter is to publicly commend two young Campbell teenagers--Joanne and Chris Pezzolo--who helped me immediately after my accident.

"They were the greatest.

"Sincerely,

"George R. Lewis"

SPEAKING OF BIKES, recently the Campbell police nabbed a sort of junior grade bike theft ring right in the heart of one of the better residential sections of town.

Someone had reported a bike theft and the police, in checking the area, identified the stolen bike by its license number in the front yard of a home. In the back yard they found about eight other bikes, as well as parts of more.

Aside from the criminal aspect of the situation, we think the case emphasized two important points.

First, that it is important to license bikes.

And, secondly, how come the parents didn't think it was strange that all these bikes were around the yard?

That second point really bugs us.

to be on the agenda for next Tuesday's meeting, when it is expected that study sessions will be scheduled.

Whether the study sessions can be worked in this month is a problem because of a number of other special sessions that have been set. In addition, the councilmen and key city personnel will be in attendance at the annual conference of the League of California Cities in Anaheim from October 15-18.

Although no provision could be made in the city's budget for the extra income this year, a number of the councilmen had expected some sort of revenue-sharing plan would be forthcoming and had given some consideration to possible priorities.

High on the list of priorities, it is understood, is the possible acquisition of land that will be needed for the development of the downtown street loop system and also for expansion of Rincon Park.

Some city officials have also indicated unofficially that the funds should be used only for capital improvement projects already designated.

In a related matter, the Commission approved the request of Anthony Morici for an extension of one year on a use permit to construct a service station at the west end of the commercial portion of the former Gomes ranch fronting on Hamilton.

An office complex has also been approved between the station and the restaurant. It was specified, however, that plans for the station must be re-submitted.

The McKeon four-plex development, "Hamilton Downs," occupies the south part of the Gomes property north of Latimer.

The Planning Commission approved the application of Carl McGee to convert two residences on West Campbell Avenue, across from the high school, into offices.

The Commission previously had approved the conversion of one residence with the condition that the other buildings be removed. The matter had been referred back to the Planning Commission after McGee had appealed to the City Council. In his appeal, McGee indicated that he was removing three buildings but desired to convert one of the others into an office.

The applicant agreed to bring the buildings up to building code requirements.

The Commission on Monday also okayed the application of Geneva McGeorge for a tool shed rental operation at 900 Dell Ave.

Continued again were three items on the agenda but the Commission directed that staff notify the applicants that the continuance was for the last time.

All of the continued matters had been on the agenda for several months. Those continued were the application of E. R. Nolen to construct a single-family residence on a sub-standard lot at 313 Grant; the application of Leonard Borellu on behalf of Parnas Co. for approval of a commercial building at 2325 Winchester and the application of Vinod Kamboz to convert a residence at 880 E. Campbell Ave. into a bridal service operation.

Cambrian gets 'on' vandals

A "get tough" policy on vandalism and restitution has been approved by the trustees of the Cambrian School District. By resolution the board authorized the county counsel to proceed with action against parents of minors who have been apprehended committing acts of destruction against properties of the district.

At the same meeting the board heard a report on district's food service program by Mrs. Meta Pelley, food service director. The trustees also heard a report on the VD situation in the county from a team of four people, headed by Gil Hyder, sponsored by the Venereal Disease Awareness Association.

The trustees ratified 207 certificated employees and 91 classified, including 18 federally funded in the district.

Al Vatuone, assistant superintendent, reported that the district's enrollment of 4,668 was down seven percent from the same period in 1971. Vatuone added that the pupil-teacher ratio was slightly higher this year in the kindergarten and grades 1-3 this year than last, but lower in grades 4-6. The ratio in grades 7-8 remain about the same, he said.

The board accepted the resignation of John Filetti, custodian of Houge School for the past seven years. Filetti is retiring.

Customers of The Prune-Yard Bank of America in Campbell can now avail themselves of an added convenience that went into effect on Monday, Oct. 2.

The bank opened a walk-up window to accommodate customers when the office is closed, according to Ed J. Fabbri, branch manager.

The walk-up window, located on the north side of the office, will be open from 9-10 a.m. and from 3-5 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

The special window will be open from 9-10 a.m. on Fridays when the office is open until 6 p.m.

This is an additional service to the drive-up window which has been in operation since the branch opened.

Prospect dads put on flea market in school parking lot

Prospect High School will be the setting for the Panther Paws fourth annual flea market on Sunday, Oct. 8, in the school parking lot. Proceeds from the sale will benefit school activities.

"Panther Paws," Prospect High School's Booster Club, got off to a fast start this fall by providing a movie camera, projector and film for use by the football coaches in training and in league games. Earl Adams, head coach, gratefully received the gift from the school's dads.

The parent booster club was founded in February, 1969 and since that time have provided equipment and facilities for the school such as baseball dugouts, perpetual trophies, universal gym, pitching machine, balance beams, tennis backboards and track equipment.

Future plans are to expand track facilities such as tartan lanes and provide additional equipment.

Selling spaces for the flea market are available at $3 and may be reserved by calling 252-2962. In previous years the marketplace has hosted a capacity crowd, filling 200 spaces and attracting as many as 3000 bargain seekers.

In addition to the sale, refreshments are available and prizes will be given.

One of the "Paws" weekly activities are their Wednesday night movies, which are films of prior week's football games. The films are shown in room 32 at 7:30 p.m.

CHURCH NITE

The First United Methodist Church of Campbell will hold an all-church fellowship night on Friday at 6:15 p.m. Following a dinner, the group will hold a "sing" and later have their choice of discussion groups, crafts, athletics, square dancing or young people's activities. For information call Jack or Joyce Hocker, 377-4428.

Don's Dispatch

by Cathy Shelton

Redwood Glen was a place of new experiences for six girls last week. Kace Lockart, Barbara Mahler, Debi Crawford, Diane Silva, Vicky Norton and Leslie Hamilton spent five days up in the mountains counseling a group of sixth graders.

They went on hikes and learned many new things together. The sixth graders are from elementary schools around the area. Seniors that participate in this activity are also from the high schools in the area.

ACTIVITIES

New activities are coming our way. Lloyd Gillespie, new activities director, is planning seven dances, two rock concerts, six professional assemblies, and new clubs for this school year. The first dance to take place is the Twirp Dance, October 27.

Gillespie was activities director at Leigh High School before coming here to Del Mar. He was a member of Del Mar's first graduating class in 1960, and was Del Mar's first student body president.

EXCHANGES

Six foreign exchange students are at Del Mar this year. They are Bertil Svensson, Britt-Marie Smedh, and Eve Wikner from Sweden, Haruo Ishikawa from Japan, Patricia Hasing from Ecuador, and Christie Smith from Libia.

Cougars Corner

by Mike Lindsey

CAMDEN VISITOR

Camden High had an unusual visitor to start the school year. He was Mr. Ishi, a Japanese English teacher, over from his home country to study U.S. schools. Ishi hopes to take back new ideas to introduce to Japanese schools.

Ishi is one of forty Japanese instructors visiting our country. They arrived in New York in July and had been sightseeing across the country. Ishi stayed with Camden teacher Thomas Fonick.

NEW INSTRUCTORS

Camden has three new teachers this year. The twenty year teaching veteran, Dr. Darrell Linthacum, heads the list. Dr. Linthacum will be teaching chemistry.

Vincent Lubinsky, a music major at San Jose State, will be teaching in the music department eight weeks.

Bob Serpa, also attending San Jose State, will be teaching in the P.E. department and U.S. History. Serpa has played two years varsity football at West Valley and one year varsity at San Jose State. Serpa is majoring in physical education with a minor in U.S. History.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENTS

Two Foreign Exchange students are attending Camden this year. Connie Tsakiridou of Greece, notes such differences as public schools and getting to choose your own classes. Luxuries unheard of in Greece. Connie is staying with Maureen Bisconer and her family.

Monica de Boorder of Holland claims that Dutch schools are too academic, so there is no time for clubs or activities. Monica is staying with Val Toohey and her family.

CAMDEN FOOTBALL

Camden was unable to cope with the very impressive Los Gatos Wildcats as the Cougars Varsity football team went down in defeat 26-15. Consistent failure to stop the Wildcats passing game accounted for the Cougar loss.

The night was not a total loss as the Cougar Cubs rolled to a 33-12 victory in frosh-soph action. The baby Cougars controlled the game with a superb ground game. The win gave the Cubs a season record of 2-0 and a league record of 1-0.

The Cougars will entertain the Leigh Longhorns in the Cougars home opener next Friday afternoon. The Cubs go against the baby Longhorns at Leigh next Thursday. The papa Cougars will be looking for their first win of the season while the Cubs will attempt to remain undefeated.

Young People's musical group steps out to new locations

John P. Healy, Jr., director and founder of the San Jose Children's Musical Theater, announced this week that the San Jose Parks and Recreation Department has offered to co-sponsor the musical group.

One of the primary functions of their co-sponsorship will be the addition of space facilities for SJCMT rehearsals.

Last year over 570 young people actually performed with the group and were seen by a combined audience of 10,000 people in church halls, school auditoriums, rest homes, county fairs, and art festivals.

The group maintains four touring companies; one for teens, one of young teens, one of all girls and a special one for younger children. These troups provide community service and entertainment for those who often cannot come out to enjoy it.

The San Jose Children's Musical Theater is an independent group; not connected with any other local organization. Its sole purpose is to be an outlet for youth of the community. In addition, volunteers to assist in running the various youth workshops are always welcome. For further information, call 265-1490.

A REPEAT PERFORMANCE --Highlighting the first anniversary festival at the Prune-Yard (Thursday, Oct. 5-Sunday, Oct. 8) will be the beauty pageant to select Miss Prune-Yard and her princesses. Entrants will be judged for talent and beauty on Friday and Saturday and then on Sunday between 8 and 8:30 p.m. the queen will be crowned. Pictured here are last year's queen, first and second runners-up and the former Santa Clara County queen. During the four-day festival, there will be daily entertainment, bands, hot air balloon rides and many other attractions daily from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

At 12:30, luncheon will be served followed by the fashion show. Mrs. William Morgan is show chairman.

Tickets for the annual event can be obtained by calling Mrs. Ralph Byington, 258-6256.

BPW's complete plans to honor Skipper Benson

Mrs. Frances Jamieson, who coincidentally will be guest speaker of the Campbell Business and Professional Women at a dinner honoring Mrs. Evelyn "Skipper" Benson on Thursday, October 12, was the speaker at the Peninsula District's Business and Professional Women's Clubs Fall Conference in San Francisco recently.

Attending from Campbell were Phyllis Acker, president of the Campbell Club; Dorothy Trevethan, Peninsula District finance officer and Mary Engelman, delegate from the Campbell club.

The clubwomen are looking forward to their annual recognition dinner at the Los Gatos Elks' Club, when they will pay tribute to Mrs. Benson, who has played an important role in club work and civic affairs.

Mrs. Benson is a member of the Country Woman's Club, Rebekahs and the Cerebral Palsy Association.

For the past 34 years, she and her husband, Lowell, have operated the Campbell Cleaners.

Reservations for the dinner, which will commence with a refreshment hour at 6:30 p.m. should be made with Mrs. Trevethan, 75 N. Central Ave.

ROUND AND ROUND--The "round" theme of Orchard City Grange's display at the county fair won them a "round" of applause from fair judges who gave the group a first prize for their display, "Round and Round and Round We Go." The group featured unusual plants, toxic plants and growth for ecology's sake. Mrs. Helen Bohn, chairman of the project is pictured with the prize winning set-up.

Drivers lack knowledge of drunk laws

Most California drivers are still ignorant of the basic facts of drunk-driving laws according to an 18 month study by the California Traffic Safety Foundation released today by J. Arthur Rude, Foundation managing director and Royal A. Neilson, consultant to the Foundation.

"For the past year-and-a-half we have bombarded the motoring public with the correct answers to four simple, but important, questions dealing with California's 'implied consent' and 'presumptive limits' laws. Opinion polls on these same questions indicate no substantial change in the public's level of knowledge," Rude said.

The project was financed by a grant from the State of California's Office of Traffic Safety and the Federal National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. It utilized newspapers, radio, and television public service time. "Releases were mailed approximately once a month to nearly 1,000 media outlets throughout the state," Rude said. "We also produced a 30 minute T.V. documentary narrated by Efrem Zimbalist, Jr., radio spot announcements by John Forsythe and Lawrence Welk, and two million brochures." The celebrities and news media donated their time and space as a public service.

"Cooperation from media was excellent," Rude stated, "but evidently it takes a much heavier saturation of time and space to reach eleven million drivers."

IMPLIED CONSENT

The California Legislature passed an "implied consent" law in 1966 and a "presumptive limits" law in 1969. These two laws are now the foundation of drunk driving law enforcement in the State.

"Implied consent" is aimed at securing chemical test evidence from arrested drivers. You may refuse the test, but your refusal automatically results in a six month license suspension.

"Presumptive limits" specifies what the results of the test mean in court. With a blood-alcohol level of 0.10% or higher a driver is presumed under the influence of alcohol.

As part of the Foundation study, Field Research Corporation of San Francisco was retained to poll the public knowledge of these laws.

Scientifically selected samples were personally interviewed in October, 1970 before any information had been released. Additional polls were conducted by Field in November, 1971, in the middle of the campaign, and a final poll was made in August, 1972. According to Neilson, "This is possibly the first time an attempt has been made to scientifically measure the results of a public service campaign in this field."

QUESTIONS

Questions from the polls with Neilson's comments follow:

Q-1: "If a person is arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol, must he submit to a chemical test to determine his blood-alcohol level or can he refuse to take such a test?"

A-1: Half the people did not know they could refuse. This percentage remained constant in all polls. Forty-four per cent in the initial poll and forty-two in subsequent polls knew they could refuse. "These figures take on importance in relationship to the next question," Neilson said.

Q-2: (Asked only of those who knew they could refuse or who answered "Don't know.") "If he refuses to take the test, which one of several things is most likely to happen?"

A-2: Approximately one person in five (21%) thought they would go free to await trial for drunk driving. They did not know they would automatically be suspended from driving for six months nor did they know they would go to jail until bail was arranged.

"The belief that drunk driving arrests are handled in much the same way as a minor violation could be a significant finding," Neilson said.

POLLS TAKEN

Almost the same percentage (20% across all polls) knew the correct answer: The driver's license would be automatically suspended regardless of the outcome of a later drunk driving trial.

"A most serious finding was that most drivers who might refuse a test have not yet learned that the license suspension has nothing to do with a trial for drunk driving," Neilson said.

About 40% answered that his driver's license will be suspended pending the outcome of his drunk driving charge--if found guilty, it will be suspended for six months, otherwise not.

Commenting on this response, Neilson said, "When you add this 40% to the 21% who thought nothing would happen until the trial, we can say that nearly two out of three people who might refuse to take a chemical test are completely ignorant of the results of their refusal.

This is a bit mind-boggling to say the least in view of the quantity of publicity on this subject over the years."

Q-3: "Which of these is closest to the present limit at which by law you are presumed to be under the influence of alcohol and too drunk to drive?" A card was handed to each respondent showing choices ranging from "any level at all" to 0.20%." Respondents could also answer "don't know."

A-3: "By law," Neilson said, "there is only one correct answer--0.10%. The first two polls showed 23% answering correctly. The final poll dropped slightly to 20%. In other words, only one in five people answered correctly.

Approximately 30% answered 'don't know.' The remaining 50% spread among all other answers."

Interviewers next informed respondents that the legal limit was 0.10% and asked---

Q-4: "About how many drinks of liquor do you think a person would have within the space of, say, one hour before he reaches that level of blood-alcohol?"

A-4: "Admittedly, this is a difficult question to answer exactly, even for experts," Neilson said, "but we hoped we might make some headway with people who thought just a few drinks would reach the presumptive level.

I am sorry to report that we didn't reach many." Seventeen per cent admitted they "didn't know." Only 7% picked a five or six drink level which would be the very minimum of drinks required for the tiniest of people. Less than 2% answered above the six drink level which would be required by most normal drinkers.

Nearly three out of four respondents (74%) thought four drinks or less would get them to 0.10% blood-alcohol levels.

A blood-alcohol of 0.10% with four or less drinks is a practical impossibility unless you are ridiculous in assuming the size of drinks and the size of people," Neilson said.

Evidently about 95% of the motoring public does not know enough about alcohol to keep even themselves out of trouble. It will be a long uphill fight before they know enough to help the drunks stay out of trouble," Neilson concluded.

New school year is title of local toastmistress talk

A speaker of the controversial 45-15 day school system is slated to be the guest of the Fol Me Cour-Toastmistress Club on Saturday, Oct. 7 at 8 a.m. at Sambo's Restaurant, 1461 W. Campbell Ave.

Mrs. Jane Spidell of Los Damas TMC, Santa Cruz, is a teacher in a system which is currently using the new system and will give a talk entitled "All Year Long" to members of the club and interested guests.

No reservations are necessary for the no host breakfast and meeting.

Boys Chorus holds auditions

Fall auditions for the Santa Clara Valley Boys Chorus will be held Saturday, Oct. 7 from 9 a.m. to noon.

This is the third year for the chorus and they plan to participate in a number of activities this fall.

Directing the group is Ken Seylar and William Slocum, who rehearse the boys Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m.

Three groups are in the chorus. A training group, a concert group and a touring group.

Minimum age for participation is eight years. There is no initiation fee or monthly dues.

The auditons will be held at Leonard Herman School, 5955 Blossom Ave., San Jose. For other information, call Barbara Halloran, 287-7688.

IMPORTANT MEASURE--"Proposition 1 on the November 7th ballot is critical for our law enforcement building" notes Supt. James Hardy, West Valley College. Supt. John Dunn (left), Foothill College District, and Supt. Otto Roemmich, San Jose College District, note the location of the proposed complex. This and other construction projects at San Jose and West Valley are dependent on passage November 7 of Proposition 1, a bond measure which provides $160 million for statewide community college construction.

Campbell could have two NASCAR state champions this year. John Van Hooser cinched the early model stock car title Saturday night in a 20-lap race at Antioch Speedway. The "Campbell Flash," Howard Kaeding, is still fighting for the super modified title but moved back into the lead with a win at San Jose Speedway.

All Van Hooser had to do Saturday night was take the green flag in the feature and the title was his. Dan Reed of Riverbank, who had been challenging all season, failed to qualify for the feature race. Van Hooser went all the way and won the race and the championship, 82 points ahead of Reed.

Kaeding also closed the lead Nick Rescino has for the San Jose Speedway title. Rescino is still 135 points ahead which leaves Kaeding with little hope as there are only 160 points to be gained before the end of the season.

DARTS

The first week of the fall-winter dart season is past and the way some of the darters shot, it looks like it may be the season for a lot of high scores. Three 180's were popped on opening night. Jim Macredes of Scarlet LaRue I lost his game to Rick Miller after hitting the three triple 20's.

The other top shooters were Bob Polling of the Say When in Hayward and Alan Drinkwater of the English Pub in Oakland.

This reporter holds the Association high out when he polished off Harry Stevens of the Lancashire Lad II with a 120-out in a 12-dart game. That was done by Shangai-ing the 20's (triple 20, single 20 and the double 20 for the out).

TOURNAMENTS

Area pubs are getting tournaments under way with the start of the Banbury Clock Saturday night tournament. The Clock was the site of some very good Saturday afternoon matches when Phil Kelly was behind the bar. When he left the action dropped.

Now NCDA vice-president Rick Miller will be behind the plank on Saturday nights and Sunday afternoons and Rick is reviving the contests.

The Clock is located upstairs in the San Jose Inn, 1860 The Alameda, San Jose.

Darters looking for something to do on a Sunday afternoon can find the action at the Or Whatever, 1781 Winchester Blvd. in Campbell. They are running a dart tournament at 4 p.m.

It is starting to shape up like the old days when one could start shooting darts on Friday night and not quit until Sunday night. All you had to do was move from tournament to tournament.

"GIANT WEEK" FOR POLOISTS

A big week is on tap for the West Valley College water-polo team. Well, maybe big isn't the right word to describe what faces WVC--giant would fit much better.

The Vikings will play six home polo games in four days, five against four year schools.

The orange and blue will jump in the deep end Tuesday at 8 p.m. when they host the University of Wyoming in the week's first bout. Brigham Young University will be in for a game Wednesday and Texas A & M visits the Saratoga pool Thursday, both games at 3:30 p.m.

The Northern California Invitational tournament will wind up the big week for West Valley. The Vikings will co-host the event with DeAnza and Foothill.

"It's the biggest water-polo tournament in the world," said WVC coach Gene Nyquist. "There will be 32 teams in the tournament, more than even played in the Olympics."

The Vikings play the Air Force Friday at 9 a.m., Diablo Valley four hours later at 1 p.m. and the San Jose State junior varsity at 4 p.m. The bracket winner will advance to the finals at Foothill Saturday.

The Buchser three, Mike Coffee, Kevin Carver and Raul Navarro, lead the Vikings into action in their "giant week." Goalies Don Vierra (Campbell) and Tom Riley (Prospect) are gaining experience in the cage and will share the responsibilities. Bill Albertson (Los Gatos) is WVC's sprint man and is said to be improving.

CENTER TO WVC
(Basketball)

"A gathering of strangers" is the theme on the West Valley College basketball court in 1972 according to head coach El Brown. Viking lettermen, incoming freshmen and top transfers head the WVC roster as they gun for their first ever conference title with a group of players who have never played together before.

Paul Boskovich is the most recent prospect in camp with a good shot at breaking into the starting five. Boskovich, a product of St. Francis High, played frosh ball at Portland University and comes to West Valley via Chico state (he didn't play basketball at Chico). The 6'5" center is said to be an "excellent reboundef by coach Brown.

"HOME SWEET HOME"
(Football)

They've played all three of their games on the road this season, losing their last two, and it sure will be nice to get home for the West Valley College footballers this weekend.

But just playing on familiar ground won't insure the Vikings an easy time of it Friday night when they take on the College of the Redwoods at 7:30 p.m. at Buck Shaw Stadium.

Redwoods has won all three games this season and are ranked the number one small junior college in the state, beating Santa Rosa, Marin and Foothill.

West Valley opened on the road with a convincing 38-0 victory over Foothill but were upset a week later 36-14 by San Jose City College on the Jag's turf. Last Saturday Ventura entertained Valley in southern California and played the role of an ungracious host by posting a 10-7 victory.

BOOTERS LOSE FIRST
(Soccer)

The West Valley College soccermen took an unscarred record into play last week and held a share of first place. But this week the Vikes must knock off the league's best just to jump into a second place tie.

West Valley, 2-1-1 in league play, faces rival DeAnza Tuesday on their Saratoga field at 3 p.m. A win over DAC would deadlock the two in second place, a half game behind leading Canada.

The Viking's clean record was marred last Friday when Skyline scored in the final 30 seconds of their game to win 1-0. The Vikes outshot them 24-12 but couldn't score.

"We really outplayed them but a mistake in the end of the game really cost us," said Schwendinger.

A night later the orange and blue broke out of their scoring slump with a 4-0 win over Fresno Pacific. Jim Brown (Mitty), Ron Johnson (Branham), Guy Hoosay (Leigh) and Casey High (Saratoga) all scored to lead the victory. The coach cited High and goalie Jim Fox (Buchser) for top efforts in both games.

West Valley is playing with reserves in three fullback positions because of injuries to key players. Only one regular is in action in the back line. Steve Thompson (Saratoga) has been said to be "playing well" by his coach at fullback replacing injured personnel.

PONY LEAGUE

Nomination and election of officers for the Campbell-Moreland Pony League will take place at a general meeting tonight (Wednesday) at 7:30 at the Rincon Field clubhouse.

All parents of boys in the league are urged to attend. Although a list of people interested in various offices will be made known, additional nominations will be welcome from the floor.

HONORED BY CITY--Steve Barnett, left, Olympic bronze medal winner, was honored by the Campbell Chamber of Commerce and the City of Campbell last week. The Chamber's award, being presented by Al La Plante, president, was a plaque stating "We're proud of Steve Barnett" while the city declared Thursday, Sept. 28 as "Steve Barnett Day." Both presentations were made at the Chamber luncheon where Barnett showed slides of his visit to Munich where he competed as a member of the U.S. water-polo team. At the luncheon were members of Barnett's family as well as a number of civic leaders.

4H CLUB MEMBERS

EL SERENO
by Clare Carlson

El Sereno 4-H Club greeted incoming new members at its monthly meeting on Sept 13.

Record books were turned in, and there was a general exhibition of members projects, including Susan Spouse's ducks which kept up a racket throughout the meeting.

Mrs. Marlene Dufin explained about all the projects, and instructions were given for enrolling in the new 4-H year.

An invitation was received to participate in the Almaden 4-H Club Horse Show. The following commitees were appointed: Program, Budget, Hallowe'en Party and (with much effort by Beth Snouse, outgoing president) National 4-H Week.

A report was given on the progress of the El Sereno Float, "Join the 4-H Fun", which was among those entered in the Saratoga Fall Festival Parade on September 23.

BUENA SUERTE
by Liz Whitty

Buena Suerte 4H club had their first meeting Wednesday September 6. Premiums and ribbons were given to the 4Hers who entered in the Santa Clara County Fair. Lynn Fontaine had high point total of the Buena Suerte 4H Club.

The 4H club also elected new officers. The new officers are: Jim Bombaci, president; Lynn Fontaine, vice-president; Ann Underwood, secretary; Carol Abel, corresponding secretary; Liz Collison, treasurer; Katie Dever, historian; Liz Whitty, reporter; Jayne Bombaci and Derri Gossner, song leaders; Marion Singer and Pam Weiss, recreation.

Sergeant-at-arms are Gregg Weiss, Stephenie Frost, Allen Fontaine and Eric Fontaine.

The Buena Suerte Rabbit Project racked up 180 points that entitled them to the 4H Club Rabbit Trophy. This is a rotating trophy. Liz Whitty also won a trophy for Advanced Rabbit Showmanship.

Marion Singer was also awarded a trophy for high point total Mix Breed Dog in an obedience class. There also were some gold stars awarded in Home Economics. Gold stars in cooking were given to Katie Dever for her Apricot Bars, Liz Collison for her pumpkin pie, Lynn Fontaine for her wall hanging and to Dawn Rovi for her pillow.

Buena Suerte may sound like a strange name for a 4H club but it means "Good Luck," and that is exactly what the Buena Suerte 4H club has had throughout the year.

"Where's Charley?" is ready to open next week in Los Gatos

Casting has been completed and production now is underway for the next Phoenix Productions' presentation, "Where's Charley?," which will open in the Prentiss Brown Auditorium in Los Gatos on Friday, Oct. 13.

The 1948 musical is based on the classic English farce, "Charley's Aunt," and originally starred lovable Ray Bolger in the title role. The Frank Loesser score includes Bolger's theme song, "Once In Love With Amy."

Key personnel involved in the production are musical director, Alan Haydis, and chorus director, James E. Tobler of Campbell.

Haydis is a graduate of San Jose State and is an elementary music teacher. He has performed with the San Jose Municipal Band and San Jose City College Band. He has played in orchestras for the Saratoga Drama Group and the San Jose Music Theater.

Tobler is a graduate of Northeastern State University in Tahleguah, Oklahoma, and has done graduate work in music at Arizona State University in Tempe, Arizona, and San Jose State. Locally he appeared with West Valley Light Opera in "South Pacific" and "Dark of the Moon" with the Community Players. He was also chorus director for "Brigadoon" with West Valley.

Other staff members for the production include Marian C. Chapman, producer; Joseph Paul Glasner, director; Meredithe Boyd of Campbell, choreographer; Gloria Stockton, costumer; and Ed Howie, technical director; and Steve Lorente, lighting designer.

The cast is headed by Norma Hughes, Don Thibault, Ruth Richard, Fred Hassett, and C. Michael Traw in the title role.

Special guests for this production will be Dick and Joanne Vine, veterans of the New York and Los Angeles stage.

Ticket information is available by calling 378-6322 or 247-1645. Group rates are available.

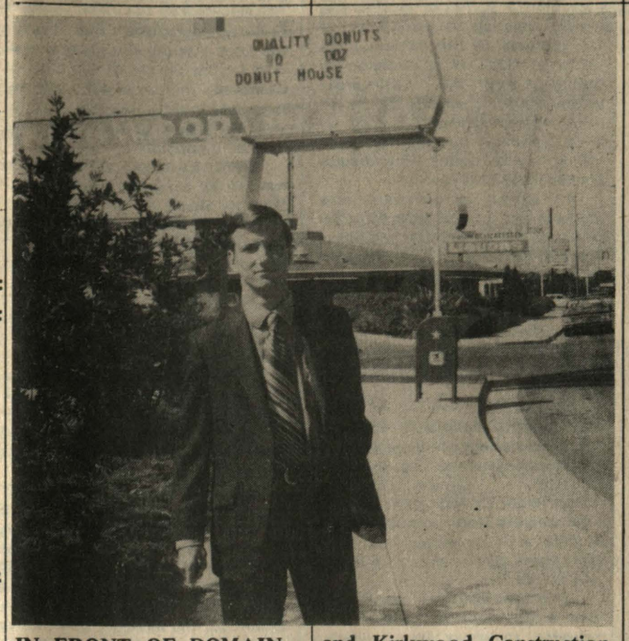
LOCAL PARTICIPANT--- James E. Tobler (right), a Campbell resident, is chorus director for the next Phoenix Productions' presentation, "Where's Charley?" The musical adaptation of "Charley's Aunt" will open on October 13 in the Prentiss Brown Auditorium in Los Gatos. Shown with him are Alan Haydis, music director, and Karen Carter, assistant chorus director.

Nursery has fund-raiser

The Saratoga Parent Nursery School parents will be holding a "Back Yard" Sale on Saturday, October 7 from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

This marks the group's first fund-raising event. The sale will feature items donated by the school's more than 50 member families, and will be held on the school premises located on the corner of Sunnyvale-Saratoga Road and Williams Avenue in Saratoga.

Membership in some preschool classes is still available and information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Myrl Dunker at 257-6833.



IN FRONT OF DOMAIN--- Steve Campbell, new general manager of Kirkwood Plaza and Kirkwood Construction Co., stands framed before the 16½ acre complex.

Steve Campbell selected as Kirkwood manager

The selection of a general manager for the Kirkwood Plaza and Kirkwood Construction Co. has been announced by Ira Kirkorian, owner of the complexes, located on Campbell Avenue and San Tomas Aquino Road.

Steven Campbell, 24, a graduate of San Jose State University, will assist Kirkorian in overseeing the 16½ acres of business and residential property.

Housed in the plaza are 47 business and 16 offices. There are 285 units in the Kirkwood Village apartment area.

Campbell is married and is working on his master's degree in Political Science and Public Administration. He recently was employed as a loan examiner for First National Bank of San Jose.

WINNING AWARDS --- West Valley College's food services students garnered three of seven national awards, recently presented by the Statler Foundation. The awards (which were sponsored by the International Food Services Executive Committee) carried a $200 scholarship and a certificate "for meritorious achievement and continued education in the hotel industry." Tom Devins, coordinator of the college's food services program, presents the awards to students Broward J. Moss (left) and Walter Wolfson. The third recipient, Margaret Cary, is now attending the hotel school at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

Cats to star this weekend

San Jose will again host cat lovers from all over the world for the Santa Clara Valley Cat Fanciers 16th Annual Show, Saturday and Sunday, October 7 and 8.

The weekend event will be held at the Santa Clara County Fairgrounds' Gateway Hall. The public is invited to view the cats and watch the judging on both days from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

This year the show will feature the crowning of four celebrity cats including king, queen, prince and princess in the household class. Long and short hair competitions in the pedigreed classes will be held. The king-queen crowning is held on Sunday at 3 p.m.

Cat fanciers from throughout the country, Canada and Mexico will be on hand to judge over 90 breeds and varieties of cats.

IN AMADOR

Batiks by Bernita Dodge, 2341 Montezuma Drive, Campbell, may be seen in a one-woman art show at the Schoolhouse Gallery, No. 1 School Street, Amador City, through October 21.

The gallery is open Wednesday through Sunday 1 to 5 p.m.

China painting class offered

Metropolitan Adult Education announces the formation of a new class, entitled "China Painting" which will begin on Monday, Oct. 9 at Fammatre School, 2800 New Jersey Ave.

No previous art background is necessary, according to Mrs. Elaine Albright, instructor, who will conduct the class each Monday morning from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Signups for the class may be made at MAEP's adult center at Del Mar High School or at the beginning of the class in Room 7 at Fammatre School.

NEW LOCATION

The annual antiques show presented by the Episcopal Church Women of Trinity will be held this year at the county fairgrounds, according to Mrs. Carroll Soderer, chairman. Date for the show is November 10, 11, 12.

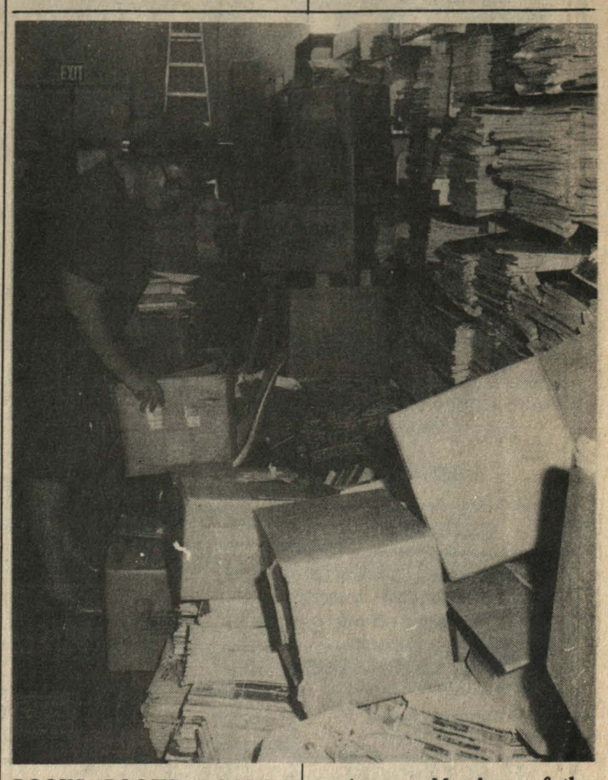
LOOKING IT OVER--Norman E. Johnson, Campbell United Fund chairman, and Gina Flores, United Fund Poster Girl, look over campaign materials which will be used in soliciting local funds. The Campbell goal is $57,462.



BOOKS, BOOKS, BOOKS--Nothing is more logical than for the Campbell Librarian to be sorting books. But Mrs. Beverly Booth isn't sorting library books, but donated books which the friends of the library will be offering for sale on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Members of the Country Woman's Club of Campbell are staffing and coordinating the sale, which will be held in a vacant lot on the east side of Winchester Blvd. between Sanford and Rincon Avenues.

Ming Quong benefits from Service League's luncheon room

The Ming Quong Service League installed their new slate of officers for the coming year during the fall meeting held at Village House and Garden, Los Gatos.

Mrs. Richard Garland, outgoing president, was presented with a bouquet of long-stemmed red roses and a Lenox pedestal vase for her favorite hobby, flower arranging. Traditionally, a gift is presented to the Village House in honor of the outgoing president.

This year the Ming Quong Children's Center will be the recipient, and will receive, in Mrs. Garland's name, twenty-four place settings of stainless flatware for their new dining-room recently completed at the Center.

A surprised Mrs. Richard Hartesveldt was presented with a bouquet of yellow long-stemmed roses in acknowledgement for her outstanding dedication. She is retiring as culinary coordinator for the special events committee, which specializes in weddings and receptions, after four years and approximately 200,000 hor d'oeuvres.

Village House tearoom received a pair of sterling silver compotes to be used by the special events committee. The compotes were a gift of appreciation given by Mr. and Mrs. Grady Williams, of Los Gatos, in gratitude for the wedding brunch given their daughter, Janet.

Village Garden is the latest project of the Service League members and features living indoor greenery and garden accessories.

Village House and Village Garden are completely staffed by volunteer members of the Ming Quong Service League, and all proceeds go to the Ming Quong children's Center.

The incoming officers are: Mrs. Allen Slutman, president; Mrs. Douglas Berg, executive vice-president; Mrs. William Weiche, personnel vice-president; Mrs. G. J. Goekler, special events vice-president; Mrs. Gordon Aumack, Village House vice-president; Mrs. Robert Jones, recording secretary; Mrs. Arthur Poenisch, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. F. Ellington, treasurer and Mrs. Virginia Fairey, member-at-large.

Volunteers needed for Christmas exchange

The 1972 All Volunteer Countywide Christmas Exchange is gearing up for another major effort to bring Christmas to the disadvantaged and have issued an urgent call for help and assistance in running the program.

Monday, November 27, the Christmas Exchange will open its office at the Volunteers of America at 1175 Randol Avenue, San Jose, for coordinating Christmas giving for the needy in Santa Clara County.

The agency tries to avoid duplication of efforts and can tell donors which needy family already has been promised help from another source.

The Christmas Exchange is in need of people to donate time to help this program from November 27 to December 21. Volunteers are needed to pickup and deliver; telephone at office or home; or posting computer runs at the office, which will be open weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Hopefully volunteers can give one or more hours.

Volunteers are urged to call Betty Sellers, 252-4398, Marion Tibbits, 253-4558 or Vi Kinghorn, 252-6082, as soon as possible.

HELP!

Campbell Head Start program reports that they received a number of volunteers as the result of the article about the program which ran recently in the Campbell Press.

The center is now looking for volunteer drivers to transport children Wednesday or Friday mornings or Wednesday afternoons.

"We'll be happy for any time that can be shared with us," says Mrs. Jewel Traina, volunteer coordinator of the center. Mrs. Traina can be reached about 4 p.m. at 378-9671.

Two lecturers booked for college talks

Nationally syndicated columnist Victor Riesel will lecture on the "Making and Breaking of a President" at West Valley College Oct. 18.

This award winning writer, broadcaster and lecturer calls labor his beat. Covering this beat, Riesel has exposed the racketeers and Communists who were milking legitimate unions, businessmen, the public and the government itself.

His tenacious reporting was borne out when his enemies endorsed the effectiveness of his reporting by having a hoodlum throw acid into his eyes one evening, blinding him. But his battle against the underworld in and out of labor--continues.

He reaches 23 million people daily through his column which is carried by 357 United States newspapers.

He is the winner of 19 major awards including the Chamber of Commerce Greatest Living American Award and the Samuel Gompers award for work in behalf of the working people.

Some tickets are still available for the Oct. 10 lecture of Joseph Costa at West Valley College.

Costa, who is known as "Mr. Press Photographer", will present a slide lecture show on "News Photography--From the Lunacy of the Twenties to the Lunar Landings of Today."

Tickets for both speakers' appearance may be obtained from West Valley's Community Services office, 44 E. Latimer Ave., Campbell, room L-26, 379-1733, ext. 58.

Deadline near, cautions League

The final day for voters to register to vote in the November 7 general election is October 8.

Registration is an essential first step to voting and can be done at local fire stations, through your political party, at most public buildings, or at business and shopping areas where deputy registrars are stationed, according to a spokeswoman for the League of Women Voters.

Citizens who are at least 18 years of age, will have resided in Santa Clara County at least 90 days by November 7 and have never been convicted of a felony are eligible to vote.

Registration is permanent and there is no need to re-register unless the voter has changed his name, changed address, or did not vote in the November, 1970, general election.

The League of Women Voters provides deputy registrars and election information. For further information phone the League of Women Voters, 268-3828.

Red Cross offers new aid plan

New method of teaching how to save lives or minimize the severity of injuries is offered to the general public by the American Red Cross.

It's the "Multimedia System." This simple method is a scientifically developed instructional system of first aid for the immediate care of the victim of an accident or sudden illness while waiting for medical assistance.

The course concentrates on the necessary skills and knowledge critical to saving lives. It also stresses general first aid and accident prevention.

It takes just a few hours to learn this new system, or about two days to be a teacher to guide others how to help themselves and their families and friends.

The Red Cross is in urgent need of men and women volunteers of all ages to take this easy course of life saving. Applicants may call in person or telephone their nearest Red Cross Chapter, or contact the Central California Regional Chapter, 333 McKendrie St., San Jose, phone 292-6242.
